Wine tastings ~

It's always difficult to choose wines for wine tastings and sometimes they work and sometimes they don't. We always have surprises and Colombo & fille red & white Cotes du Rhone really did show well the white is a lively blend of Clairette, Rousanne & Bourboulenc grapes floral, citrus a touch of white peach on the nose & palate superb. The Red has cherry berry fruit and a touch of spice in abundance the blend of Mourvèdre, Grenache & Syrah works like a dream, both wines on special offer at £9.99 bottle The fabulous Contino Reserva Rioja was always bound to be hit and it was! Delicious layers of rich ripe fruit and supple oaky tannins make it a bargain at £17.99 bottle (until the end of December) it's usual price is £22.50 bottle. Our October tasting was one of our most successful thank you.

Wine Wizard

It's a strange fact that wines closed with a cork on average sell for £1.52 more a bottle than those closed with a screw cap! There is a perception that a cork is more expensive classier style of closure, where as the reverse is actually truth. A screw cap is generally a better closure than cork and is more expensive too! So don't reject the humble screwcap it is doing a better job than a cork.

Winston Churchill was prime minister when the bung was put into the legendary barrel of whisky cask 121 in 1943 at the Glenlivet Speyside distillery. Now whisky drinkers with expensive tastes can purchase one of the 40 decanters that go on sale the contents have been drawn from the legendary cask. If you are feeling flush at £30,000 I'm sure it will taste like nectar of the Gods!

There is a new MD at Chapel Down's New Brewery, well the brewery hasn't been built yet but will be soon! Gareth Bath was at Brew Dog but will be taking over control of Chapel Down's beer & cider there is going to be a label change soon, there were some great labels & publicity stunts at BrewDog I am sure that Gareth will have lots of interesting plans for the beers at Chapel Down.
